

World Name:

Catacomb

Grid / Sector:

2234 Deneb

Notes:

Catacomb has been severely affected in the last 100,000 years by the evolution of its two primaries. Formerly within the system's life zone, it is now too hot to be terrestrial. The ocean is water, but so severely tainted with lead, tin, zinc and copper salts as to qualify for a Fluid rating. The coasts of the continents are blue with copper salts, and the remainder is bare, light grey basaltic stone. Numerous abandoned cities, in a state of severe decay, dot the land.
